Morsel for Meditation

“None of us has the luxury of choosing our challenges. Fate and history provide them for us. Our job is to meet the tests we are presented.”

Fed Chairman Jay Powell, speaking at the Brookings Institution on April 9, 2020

“There is often more wisdom to be found at the edges of life than in its middle. Life-threatening illness may shuffle our values like a deck of cards. Sometimes a card that has been on the bottom of the deck for most of our lives turns out to be the top card, the thing that really matters. Having watched people sort their cards and play their hands in the presence of death for many years, I would say that rarely is the top card perfection, or possessions, or even pride. Most often the top card is love.”

Rachel Naomi Remen, My Grandfather's Blessings (New York: Riverhead Books, 2000), 280.

Rector's Update

Greetings to the saints at St. Paul's,

The summer heat makes it easier to stay home, and that makes worshipping online a little easier to take. We heard a lot of good points made about protecting physical health by physical distancing, and I appreciate the intent. I'd also propose that we need to consider other aspects of our health. Physical health via exercise, sleep, and proper diet remain as important today as ever. Likewise, our mental health needs attention through social contact. Social media has its place, and so does making telephone calls to family and friends. Those who wait for someone else to call them may wait a long time. I am concerned about all those areas, and as the Rector, I'm also concerned about the spiritual well-being of parishioners. St. Bonaventure said, 'In the way of virtue, there is no standing still; anyone who does not daily advance, loses ground. To remain at a standstill is impossible; one who gains not, loses; one who ascends not, descends. If one does not ascend the ladder, one must descend; if one does not conquer, one will be conquered.' While we're in a time of not meeting physically, we have other ways to grow in our walk with Jesus. St. Paul's offers interactive Noonday Prayer on Wednesday, and a Friday morning Bible study. Many free or low cost online courses are readily available (e.g. <https://www.thegospelcoalition.org>, <http://users.ox.ac.uk/~mcgrath/>, <http://peterkreeft.com/>, <https://gospelinlife.com/>), not to mention the wealth of Christian writings. Those who want to grow spiritually during this time have more resources than ever before. Please avail yourself of some of these opportunities!

Remote Eucharist continues, and a couple parishioners are helping me to distribute the Eucharist to parishioners' homes on Wednesdays and Thursdays. Please let me know by email if you'd like to receive the Holy Sacrament remotely. The best way to contact me is fathernickfunk@gmail.com.

Here's St. Paul's news for the week:
